E. M. Sargent, Lowell, Mass., says:—
"Several years ago, my daughter broke out with large sores on her hands, face, and other parts of her body. The case puzzled the doctors. My daughter used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and it resulted in a complete cure. Her blood seems to have been thoroughly purified, as she has never had so much as a plinple since taking this medicine."

"This is to certify that after having."

"This is to certify that after having been sick for twelve years with kidney disease and general debility, and having been treated by several physicians with-out relief, I am now better in every re-spect, and think I am nearly well, having taken seven bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Maria Ludwigson, Albert Lea, Minn.

TIME'S REVENGE.

Years, years ago, when I was young,
I loved a tair and gentle maiden;
Her praises day and night i sung,
My heart with deepest passion laden
lut tearning that she loved me not,
I did not drop a tear or quaver,
But bowed to my unhapy lot,
And woogd another sweet enslaver.

How quickly time doth turn the scene.
With wonders strange and changes plen
My pretty sight is just eighteen,
My first love's tooy is four-and-twenty.
Her child loves mine. How merrily
I'll lead his hopes unto the shughter,
His mother would not marry me.
And I'll not let him wed my daughter.

IN A HOPELESS MINORITY.

A Man who Awoke at the Wrong Time Dur

"Saturday night about twenty years ago, I remember, we had had a hard day's work, and my partner, with my-self and a large majority of the Minneapolis bar of the day, sought rest from the labor of the week in a Saturday night 'blow-out,' where congenial spirits nixed in sociable enjoyment. Yes, and many other kinds of spirits were mixed, too, I'll admit, though we didn't often do it, gontlemen. I kept reasonably sober myself, but my brother, at the bar was very 'rosy' as I helped him along to our rooms at nearly daylight Sunday morning. I got him to bed, and followed, expecting to hear no more from him that day; but contrary to my expectations, he was reatless all morning, and about 0:30 he was going to church-that a man ought to go to church-that a man ought to go to church on Sunday and he was going. I tried to dissuade him, but he persisted he had been pretty tough the night before, and he was going to church to make up for it. He was in no condition to be trusted to go alone, and to protect the reputation of the firm I went with him, after vainly trying to talk him out of it. We went to the Centenary Methodist church. There was an evangelist from abroad there, and he preached a rousing sermon, too, I remember. My conscientious partner grew drowsy under the effects of it, however, and as we had come in late and, I add gotten him into a back seat, I was Mr. Carestis, How see? Take heal? many other kinds of spirits were mixed, ver, and as we had come in late and, I and gotten him into a back seat, I was had gotten him into a back seat, I was beginning to congratulate myself on keeping him quiet so well when the sermon got to 'the lastly' and then to the 'in conclusion.' As the good man finished, to get a criterion of what effect his words had produced, he said:

"'Now all those who feel they are on the road to this better land please rise.' All who dared rose. I didn't dare.' Well, now, all those who feel that they would like to start may rise.' I felt I must 'get up, and laying my sleeping partner's head from my shoulder, I rose.

must get up, and mying my steeping partner's head from my shoulder, I rose.

"'You may all be seated. May the Lord have mercy upon you.'

"My partner was rousing, but I was too much impressed with the resolution I had taken and didn't notice him."

"'Now, all those who feel that they are going to hell ploase rise,' Mr. Partner caught the word rise as he awoke from his slumbers. He seemed to half realize that there was some voting going on and jumped to his feet. The eyes of the whole audience was on his drowsy-looking form before I could make an effort to get him into his seat. Not another soul rose. He was perfectly sobered in a second. 'My dear sir, blame if I know what we're voting on, but whatever it is you and I appear to be in a deplorable minority.' With that he dropped into his seat, and wanted to know what in thunder I brought him to church for. I don't believe that man's ever idrunk a drop since."

BEAUTY IN THE BATH.

New York's Luxurious Women as Described

The luxurious habits of New York maid has ceased to be sufficient attendance, her time being more or less absorbed by the toilet and cognatic matters, so the present plan is to engage he services of a woman who goes out by the day or hour, and whose cards read Ladies' Tollets. She has entire charge of the persons of her customers, and it is her duty to see that they are kept heauliful. Once or twice a week she rubs, combs, brushes, clips and cleans their hair, undertaking to keep it soft, sleek and thick. She manicures the nails and uses and recommends such urguents as are warranted to keep the hands soft and white. She is a pencure as well, and keeps her customers feet in as perfect condition as their hands. She has a thousand different devices for beautifying the face, and undertakes to ward off wrinkles by her tubbings and emolients. She trains eyebrows in the way they should go, removes superfluons hair, induces eyelashes to thicken and lengthen, keeps the skin smooth, fresh and fair, and declares she can make the lips keep their bloom without the use of rouge.

So confident are the manufacturers of that world-famed remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, that it will do all that they represent, in the cure of liver, blood and lung diseases, that, after witnessing its thousands of cures for many years past, they now feel warranted in selling it (asthey are doing, through druggists) under a positive guarantee of its giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be refunded. No medicine of ordinary merit could be sold under such severe conditions with profit to its proprietors, or no other medicine for the diseases for which it is recommended was ever before sold under a guarantee of a cure or no pay. In all blood taints and impurities of wintever name or nature, it is most positive in its curative effects. Pimples, blotches, eruptions and all skin and scalp diseases are radically cured by this wonderful medicine. Scrofulous disease may affect the glands, causing swellings or tumors; the bones, causing "fever-sores," "white swellings" or "hip-joint diseases;" or the the glands, causing swellings or tumors; the bones, causing "fever-acres," white swellings" or "hip-joint disease;" or the tissues of the lungs, causing pulmonary consumption. Now the Cames of a Lawsuit.

New York Herald.

In Franklin, Delaware county, fortyeight years ago, Minard Freer, a farmer, let Amos Ellison, a neighbor's boy, have a teeming ewe sheep, under a practice
then common among farmers and known as "letting out live stock to double every four years." The principle was that the borrower took the ewe, agreeing to keep her and her progeny and to return to the lender whenever demanded out of the natural increase of the flock in the geometrical progression of two for one werey fourth year. The lender and borrower are both dead, and during their lives, so far as appears, no demand was ever made upon Ellison for the return of the stipulated share of the ewe's increase.

Now Catharise A. Freer, as representative of her father. Minard Freer, brings an action in the Supreme Court of the Sixth Judical district against the Amos Ellison estate for the recovery of her
portion of the progeny of the old ewe,
under the contract made forty-eight years ago, She demands forty-one-years'
increase of the swe, up to Ellison's death in 1882, figuring up that she is a centilled to the return of 1,280 sheep or otherwise to be paid the equivalent in cash of $3 00 a head, equal to $4,480.
Eminent counsel tell her she can collecther claim. The case is exciting interest on account of the novelty of the issues.

Referee M. W. Marvin, of Walton, who has long been taking testimony in the case, now reports to court that the plaintiff's claim is barred out under the statute of limitations relating to claims against estates. The plaintiff's lawyers will appeal.
